

Helping VERBS

Helping verbs are auxiliary verbs that help the main verb express its tense, mood, or voice. Examples: be, do, have

Advanced Sentence Search

Directions: Underline the helping verbs in each sentence.

- 1.They were energetically chasing after the ball on the soccer field.
- 2.I have been meticulously pouring over my notes and textbook, preparing for my big test.
- 3.He has been lost in the pages of an engrossing novel.
- 4.We are joyfully spreading out a blanket and unpacking a basket filled with delicious treats for our picnic.
- 5.They will be arriving in the near future, eager to join the festivities.
- 6.She can effortlessly twirl and move to the rhythm of the music.
7. He had been dedicatedly putting in long hours on a complex project.
- 8.The cat was peacefully dozing on the soft cushions of the couch.
- 9.They are excitedly planning their trip to the movies to catch the latest blockbuster.
- 10.He has finally completed all of his homework assignments, putting in extra effort to ensure his success.