This morning, I woke up to the sound of chirping birds outside my window. Those birds were singing so sweetly that I decided to take a walk outside to enjoy the beautiful day. As I walked down the street, I saw this big, yellow school bus driving by. These children inside the bus were laughing and waving to me as they passed. Suddenly, I heard that ice cream truck playing its jingly tune down the road. I knew that I had to catch it before it was too late. When I arrived at the truck, I saw all these different flavors of ice cream, but I chose that one with the rainbow sprinkles. It was so delicious that I ate it all up in no time. What a great day it was!
