FUN FACTS ABOUT CATS AS SERVICE ANIMALS READING AND MULTIPLE CHOICE

Directions: Read the passage and answer the questions.

Service animals are special pets that help people who may need support. Dogs are common service animals, but cats can be service animals too.

Cats can be great companions and give comfort to people. They can also learn to do helpful things like alerting someone with hearing loss to important sounds or reminding them to take medicine.

Cats are smaller than dogs, which is good for people with limited movement or small homes. However, cats can be more independent and harder to train. Choosing a cat as a service animal depends on what each person needs and likes.
