Who loved to sleep on his bed.
He'd snuggle up tight
All through the night,
With dreams of chasing a sled!

Who wanted to learn how to moo.
He tried every day,
But to his dismay,
He oinked instead and said, "Boo-boo!"

In a pond lived a frog name Fred,
Who dreamed of a crown for his head.
He hopped far and wide,
With a regal stride,
And found a lily pad throne instead!

In a castle with walls strong and high,
Lived a princess who gazed at the sky.
When dragons drew near,
She showed them no fear,
And became their friend by and by!
