It was the day of the big soccer match. Max stood on the field, feeling nervous. "Yikes!" he whispered, his palms sweating. "I hope I don't mess up."

His best friend, Ava, jogged over and grinned. "Relax, Max! You've been practicing for weeks!" Max smiled. "Thanks, Ava. I guess you're right."

The whistle blew, and the game started. "Woo-hoo!" Max cheered as he kicked the ball towards the goal. "Go team!" he shouted, high-fiving his teammates. The crowd cheered, and Max felt much braver now!
