

Name _____

Alliteration Adventure

Directions: Ready to be an alliteration detective? Today, you're going to find alliteration hiding all over the place! Keep your eyes wide open—we're on the lookout for those amazing alliteration phrases that make our writing come alive! Read Hazel's story below and underline all the alliteration you find.

Hazel was happily hiking through the lush, leafy forest, her eyes eager to explore every exciting entrance along the way. As she began her journey, she noticed how the tall trees towered together, their trunks twisting and turning in different directions.

Walking along the winding path, Hazel suddenly heard a soft sound. It was so sweet, it seemed to whisper through the woods! "That must be the wind," she thought, "but it feels like a gentle gust guiding me forward."

Hazel continued her walk and came across a fast-flowing river. The water moved in mysterious motions, making a melody as it meandered toward the ocean. Hazel smiled at the sight and decided to skip stones along the surface. Some stones skipped smoothly, making tiny splashes, while others sank swiftly into the stream.

As she wandered deeper into the forest, Hazel came across a beautiful field of bright, blooming flowers. The colorful petals shimmered in the sunlight, and the scent of sweet blossoms filled the air. Hazel felt peaceful, like she had discovered a secret spot full of surprises.

Finally, after walking for what seemed like forever, Hazel found herself at the heart of the forest. There, she saw the hidden treasure she had been searching for, glowing softly in the sunlight. Hazel grinned and said, "This journey was full of fun and fascinating finds!"

