

Name _____

Meaning Match

Directions: To the bottom left are sentences that use personification. Match each sentence to the correct description of the action or emotion it conveys.

The wind howled through the trees, demanding attention.

This object is given a human-like qualities full of anticipation and excitement. It's ready for any adventure.

The flowers stretched their arms toward the sun, eager to greet the morning.

This object is given human-like qualities of rest and anticipation for the next day.

The birdhouse stood proudly in the corner of the garden, eager for visitors to come.

This object is described in a way that suggests it is full of energy and life, with the bubbles being personified as excited.

The sparkling water danced in the glass, sending bubbles of excitement to the surface.

These objects are personified as stretching their arms, showing their eagerness and vitality.

The bicycle eagerly waited by the front door, ready for its next adventure.

This object is described as loud, suggesting it is powerful and trying to grab attention.

The light bulb flickered with excitement as it prepared to brighten the room with its warm glow.

This object is personified as having a sense of importance and it waits for visitors.

As the day ended, the sun yawned and slowly sank below the horizon, ready to sleep until morning.

This object is personified as being eager and ready to shine, giving it a lively, energetic quality.