Cap the Cat was hungry.

He had his eye on a bowl of milk on the table.

"I want to drink the milk," said Cap.

But the bowl was out of his reach.

He tried to jump, but it was too high.

Cap ran to Clover the Cow.

"Please help me get the milk," said Cap.

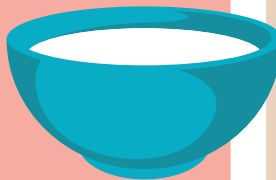

Clover smiled and said, "I can help! I will use my long neck."

Clover picked up the bowl and gave it to Cap.

"Thank you, Clover!" he said.

Cap drank the milk.

It was the best milk ever!"
