CHARACTER TRAITS: 100 YEARS OLD

Directions: Imagine you meet someone who is 100 years old! They might have amazing stories to tell, unique hobbies, and special qualities that make them unforgettable. In this activity, you'll think about what a 100-year-old character might be like and describe their character traits.

Read the description below about Grandpa Rob, a 100-year-old character. Fill in the chart with character traits based on what you learned.

Grandpa Rob is 100 years old and loves telling stories about his childhood. He remembers walking to school in the snow and playing with his friends. Grandpa Rob has a warm smile and always wears his favorite bright blue hat and round glasses.

Even though Grandpa Rob moves a little slower now, he still enjoys his morning walk to the park. He loves feeding the birds there and talking to the kids who come by. Grandpa Rob is kind and patient, often teaching the children how to play checkers. He also bakes cookies for them, though he needs a little help with the recipe. His family says he is wise and thoughtful, always reminding them that "Every day is a gift, so make it count!"
